NATIONAL INCOME TROUBLES.

THE CARNIVAL AND THE SOLDIER.

In arranging for the seat sales, the 1916 Carnival management is taking one step which will be particularly appreciated in military circles—that of selling seats to soldiers. The post exchanges will handle order forms and the soldiers may buy what they please and get precisely the same accommodations and service as anybody else.

The soldier, as the Carnival management emphasizes, does not want anything gratuitous. He does not want to be set apart from the civilians on public occasions where his presence is not required by some military feature. The best thing that can be done for the soldier is to treat him on the same fair and square footing the average Honolulu man treats anybody else and wants to be treated himself.

A HONOLULAN'S SUGGESTION.

That big tourist traffic Honolulu has expected for years is not still sometime in the hazy future—it is here.

A glance at the steamer arrivals for several weeks past will convince any "kamaaina," who is fairly familiar with island folk, that the tourists are coming here by the hundred. The day of opportunity is not next month or next year, it is today.

What of it? One suggestion for Honolulu to consider comes from a local businessman who is now in San Francisco and one who is particularly interested in seeing that Honolulu takes the best care possible of its residents and of its visitors. In a recent letter he says:

"It now looks to me very much as if the Great Northern Pacific Steamship Company might make their service permanent if the development of travel increases, and possibly put on the Northern Pacific as well as the Great Northern, getting another boat for the Pacific Coast trade. With this service and the completion of the new Matson steamer, which will be in every way even more desirable than the splendid Matsonia, that company will be able to handle fully one thousand passengers every month. This means that the Promotion Committee's worry over transportation will cease, but you should now get busy and do something to add to the already splendid hotel facilities of the city. Our hotels now are equal to those you will find anywhere and their rates will average lower than those on the mainland. What is wanted, however, is a large hotel on the beach, having a large, attractive central building for offices, dining-rooms, etc., with magnificent lanais on the first and second floors, practically all around the building, with numerous cottages built for two or more people, a place large enough, attractive enough and with sufficient funds at the back of the enterprise to warrant extensive advertising and to commend itself to the different railway and steamship companies as well as being worth while for them to advertise. Such a hotel will not detract in the least from the patronage given to the present hotels but really will be a means of adding to their business."

With the Territorial Hotel Company taking over the present plant of the Seaside Hotel, material improvements in the Waikiki beach hosteleries are to be expected. The new Seaside may fill the very vacancy here suggested.

Every effort should be put forth to secure more beach front for bathing than is now generally available. At first sight this seems well-nigh an impossibility, but mainland cities out of such impossible situations have created great parks and splendid boulevards and spacious playgrounds. The Outrigger Club was an impossibility until someone created it.

This suggestion from a Honolulu who gets a new perspective by being away from the islands is not an entirely new thought. There are frequent arguments in favor of another beach hotel. It is, however, additional evidence that the right sort of enterprise should be brilliantly successful.

CAMINETTI RAPS IMMIGRATION OF FILIPINOS HERE

the matter again would be mere supererogation, but the importance of the matter can not be too much emphasized. Immigration to the islands is in itself a very different problem from that of immigration to the mainland, and as between the several insular possessions conditions are so different that the matter must be subdivided into Porto Rican, Hawaiian and Philippine immigration in order to be treated intelligently and successfully. Thus Porto Rico has a large native population which may in the course of time become Americanized and no immigration being needed there and but little coming, the problem in its relation to that particular possession is not of great consequence insofar as the island itself may be expected to be affected; but of course there always remains the possibility, which should be guarded against by suitable legislation, of the island being used as a stepping-stone for the mainland over which will come undesirable who can not come in other ways.

"Americanization of Hawaii" Slow. In Hawaii, on the other hand, the tendency toward Americanization, owing to the population being so largely foreign to that of the mainland, is not making substantial progress; and in perhaps none of the insular possessions is it so important that the population shall be overwhelmingly American as in this particular group of islands. In the Philippines, again, the situation is wholly different. There is practically no hope or expectation that within any reasonable period the population of these islands will become Americanized in any real sense, nor is there, perhaps, any particular reason or demand at this time why their Americanization should be insisted upon. Aliens admitted to the Philippines can come to the continent "coastwise" under the present law, and of course it can hardly be expected that those engaged in the enforcement of the immigration laws at Philippine ports will in passing upon the cases of applicants look to the (to them) remote possibility that such applicants really intend to come to the mainland.

Little Success With White. In Hawaii, while the law is en-

President Wilson's suggestions in his recent message to Congress of various means for raising much-needed national revenues are furnishing a troublesome puzzle to house and senate financiers. They regard some of the suggestions as impracticable and others as impolitic, and yet they find it hard to bring forward substitutes.

For instance, already the administration's representatives in Congress have tacitly dropped the president's suggestion for a stamp tax on checks. It was estimated this would yield about $18,000,000 but the plan was regarded as certain to gain the hostility of powerful banking interests as well as of small depositors, and has been settled in the negative. Similarly the plan of a tax on gasoline and another tax on autos is out of favor, because nowadays most of the farmers seem to be riding in autos and the president's advisers say that if Democracy is to stay in power, the farmer vote must be held. It's pretty certain the big cities and manufacturing centers—always the stronghold of protectionism—will turn out powerful opposition to the Democrats at the next election and every effort must be made now to assure the right treatment of the "rural vote."

About the only item in the president's financial program which seems to have met with general favor among the Bourbons of Congress is the lowering of the income tax exemption to take in smaller incomes and thus increase the revenues from this source. Also, another fifty cents per barrel is likely to be assessed on beer.

EMPEROR HUNG HIN.

New that President Yuan Shih-Kai has accepted the throne of China and taken the imperial cognomen of Hung Hin, it is not hard to trace the development of his monarchical ideas since the overthrow of the Manchus. As president he began early to subordinate the legislative and judicial branches of the republican government to the executive, and after he had riddled the parliament by the summary dismissal of members, his will was almost as supreme as it will be under the new regime.

It is fair to say of Yuan that those who know him are convinced he believes nothing but an approach to autocracy can develop China rapidly enough for the great, unwieldy country to meet its many internal and external problems. A good many observers expect the new emperor to pattern his rule after that of Kaiser Wilhelm.

Sheriff Pua of Hawaii has nearly caught the Spanish murderer, Molina, a dozen times now. Perhaps it will be another Yee Yo Keuk case.

More than $12,000,000 was paid by Hawaiian corporations in dividends during 1915. As Taft once remarked, poor Hawaii!

Jew-baiting and oppression in Russia give evidence that the Czar's government is still in the hands of reactionaries.

Dr. Sun has predicted all along that Yuan Shih-Kai would live to be Hung.

Very likely the P. & O. liner Persia was trying to ram that submarine!

forced by officers of this bureau who can and do to a certain extent have regard to the possibility that the aliens affected will come to the mainland, there is a well-established effort which, however, so far has met with but little success, to build up a white population by encouraging European immigration and such officers have found themselves upon one or the other horn of a dilemma—they must not interfere with the privilege granted the territory of inducing alien laborers through advertisements to come thereto, and, on the other hand, must try to enforce the spirit of the law and to have in contemplation the entire country rather than a small section thereof when doing so.

Congress Should Consider Action. "As was suggested in the last report, all of these matters affecting immigration into the insular possessions and from the insular possessions to the mainland should be given careful attention by Congress at an early date. They are serious and are deserving of most earnest thought and well-advised action. There is no desire to interfere with what may be considered the local wants of the territory. But the fact that so large a number of the aliens, as well as citizens from our insular possessions, who are admitted to the territory come to the mainland eventually and there become public charges in San Francisco or vicinity warrants the suggestion that the terri-

THREE MEETINGS HELD TO CONDEMN YUAN'S CONDUCT

More than 1000 people gathered at the Liberty theater yesterday afternoon to hear the program given by the Chinese National party of Honolulu. Hee Jackson presided at the meeting and the principal speakers of the day were Col. Gen. D. J. Wudan and Fung Chee You.

Yuan Shih-Kai fooled many of the Chinese citizens," said Fung Chee You who was the first speaker. "Before Yuan Shih-Kai declared the monarchy some Chinese did not believe that he would set himself up as an emperor. The National party knew that he would. We foretold it in all of our speeches."

"If the people of the country had watched they would have found that there was much trickery in the policy of Yuan. According to the constitution if any one abolishes the law he becomes criminal. When Yuan first took the office of president he swore that he would preserve the constitution and do his best to maintain the new republic, and not assist in the propaganda for a monarchy."

In a short address Col. Gen. Wudan stated that China belongs to 400,000,000 people and not to any one man. He said: "We cannot recognize the emperor because he was not elected lawfully. We would rather recognize him as president of China. You can judge the attitude of the people from the actions of the past few days."

See Dai Do, a Chinese society numbering about 300 members, held a New Year's meeting at their hall on Vineyard street last evening. Tea and cakes were served to the members and friends. Fung Chee You and Col. Gen. D. J. Wudan were speakers of the evening. When Dr. Sun Yat Sen lived in Honolulu he was elected an honorary president of this society.

Several hundred Chinese of Honolulu gathered at the Wah Men school on New Year's Day, where a dinner and musical program was given by the members of the various Chinese societies. C. K. Ai, Fung Chee You and Col. Gen. Wudan were the principal speakers and a number of musical numbers were given by Chinese young ladies. Moving pictures, and special band music featured the day.

FEWER ARRESTS OVER NEW YEAR WEEK END THAN AT USUAL TIMES

Evidence that New Years resolutions went into effect Friday at midnight when 1916 came in is offered by the calendar of the police court, on which but five new cases appeared this morning. These arrests were for minor offenses and occurred between Friday afternoon and this morning. Never before in the history of the court, say the employees, has there been such a small number of arrests over a week-end. Ten "main drunks" were arrested during the week-end and allowed to go after they sobered up.

Japan's government is trying to promote the manufacture of dyestuffs and of glycerin and carbolic acid, but it realizes that such enterprises will require considerable money. A new law provides that a dyestuff corporation should have a capital of more than $2,888,000 and for glycerin and carbolic acid a capital of more than $597,600 is required.

History of Hawaii should be placed upon the same basis with respect to immigration as the mainland. Only in that way could satisfactory results be attained, it is believed.

Criticism Filipino Immigration. "It is doubtful, also, whether it is advisable to permit any large number of Filipinos to enter Hawaii. An effort should be made to induce people from the mainland to go to the islands. It would be to the interest of the government of the United States and its people that this be done. I recommend that this matter be taken up by the department—by virtue of its jurisdiction over the subjects of immigration and labor—through such method as may be deemed advisable and in conjunction with the department of the interior, with a view of affording relief to the territory and making it possible to offer such inducements as will encourage persons from the mainland to settle in that favored part of the American domain.

Hints at Public Land Distribution. "Some satisfactory arrangement might be evolved through such cooperation whereby public lands in Hawaii might be used as a basis for American immigration thereto. With the development of the distribution branch of the bureau it would seem that practically all necessity or excuse for the retention in the law of so much of section 6 as is invoked in support of the activities of the territorial authorities in the inducing of immigration disappears."

ONE THOUSAND ATTEND 'OPEN HOUSE' AT 'Y'

Biggest Crowd on Record Sees Local Building During Reception By President

What was by far the biggest and most successful entertainment ever held by the local Y. M. C. A. was the "Open House," which attracted 1000 persons to the central building last Saturday night, the affair being a reception by President F. C. Atherton to members and friends of the association and their ladies.

Prior to the reception 150 persons sat down to dinner in the cafeteria, where a special meal was served under the direction of Floyd H. Emaans, business manager. Special tables for two persons were placed in the music room, providing a new and popular feature. During the dinner hour music was rendered by the Knights of Kamehameha orchestra, augmented by J. G. Boiesse, cornetist, and Robert Heen, ukulele soloist.

At 7:30 o'clock the reception line was formed and both the diners and other guests met President and Mrs. Atherton and General Secretary and Mrs. Paul Super. The guests were introduced by Arthur E. Larimer, secretary of the men's department.

Following the reception the guests went to Cooke hall, where a concert was held. Some excellent musical numbers were contributed by the Kamehameha faculty quartet, Robert Heen, J. G. Boiesse and Leo B. von Herardorf. Much applause rewarded the efforts of the performers, and the program was heartily enjoyed by all.

After the concert, the All-Stars and Service teams played a snappy basketball game in the games hall before the largest audience ever assembled there. The score was 44 to 29, with the Service team on top. This was followed by a gymnasium exhibition, showing the actual physical training that a man or boy receives who joins the association.

At the conclusion of the gymnasium exhibition the guests moved to the swimming tank, where some lively exhibitions were given in swimming and diving by Messrs. Tait, Thurston, Fuller and L. Fullard-Leo. The affair came to a close with an informal social affair in the lobby, where refreshments were served.

BOYS WILL AID FAST CAMPAIGN

The boys will have a prominent part in the Y. M. C. A. automobile campaign which goes after 100 members in 100 minutes on January 5. Harry S. Hayward, Chas. F. Loomis and R. S. Whitcomb have worked out a plan by which there will be an extra pair of solicitors on each of the six teams going after employed boys and students.

At the grand rally of the employed boys tonight, Hayward will be present at the supper and enthrust the boys over going after their friends to join. Four teams will have boy members, the Cadillac, Studebaker, Reo and Overland. The boys will be assigned to their teams at this evening's rally and names of prospects will be given out by Mr. Hayward and Mr. Loomis.

The student campaign which is under the direction of R. S. Whitcomb will be a feature of the Ford and Buick teams. Joseph Stickney and Gordon Brown have been appointed on the Ford team to solicit student members. Woods Peters and Ronald Higgins are the Buick pair to go after their Punahou friends for the Y. M. C. A.

Invitations were sent out this morning to the 60 men who will work on the 100 minute campaign for a luncheon as guests of the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow noon. Ed Towse will preside at this luncheon at which things will be "whooped up" for the campaign and prospects assigned to members of the six teams.

MRS. FRANCIS E. CLARK TO ADDRESS WOMAN'S BOARD

Among the speakers at a meeting of the Woman's Board of Missions of Central Union church at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon will be Mrs. Francis E. Clark, wife of the founder of the Christian Endeavor society, both of whom are now visiting in Honolulu. A survey of the work of the missions throughout the world will be presented by Mrs. Frank C. Atherton and Mrs. A. C. Alexander will present a general report as chairman of the committee on the revision of the constitution of the board.
